Using a Remote Release
A remote release can be used for long time-exposures. When using an optional RR-100 remote release or an electronic release from third-party suppliers, connect it to the camera's microphone/remote release connector via a third-party adapter that converts the female three-pin, ⌀2.5 mm connector to a male three-pin, ⌀3.5 mm connector.

A confirmation dialog will be displayed when a remote release is connected; press MENU/OK and select ⌹ REMOTE for MIC/REMOTE RELEASE.
